The Brolga Project – Campaign 100

Currently The Brolga Project is looking to place at least 100 students for the June/July semester break, many whom are looking for full-time work in the near future.

The Brolga Project seeks to place metropolitan-based university students into work experience positions with rural and regional businesses, to encourage students to look to regional careers when they graduate.

'Campaign 100' is designed to build momentum to the Brolga Project - getting some of the excellent quality students into regional work. It is an across-the-board, participatory, dynamic, short-term campaign which will lay the foundation for an injection of enormous human and financial capital into regional and rural Australia.

If you are interested in participating, or would like more information about Campaign 100 please click here.
